

Abstract

Systems, methods and databases for the exchange of information offering advantages over current systems and methods are provided.